Session 183: Reality, know the experience

Summary: This is a unique situation as both Martin and Marie are recorded in a session together. The Friends lecture on their core philosophy including methods to experience other realities. The tension between Martin and the Friends is demonstrated during the session and Martin comments on this in the debrief. This session is insightful as it is both a summary of the Friends and a demonstration of the limitation of the Friends understanding of humans and our ability to understand them. Language is the barrier and the only way to know is to have the experience.
